On Saturday, January 18, 2020 Wang’s Martial Arts held its 18th Annual Chinese New Year and Award Banquet at China Ko in Humble, Texas.

A vegetarian style meal was prepared for the health of all guests & kindness to animals. At the tables, guest received a red envelope that contained a lucky Chinese coin. During the reception, visitors were able to enjoy pleasant music.

As dinner approached, Pastor William Irwin said grace. Our Jr. Black Belt, Makinzi Rodriguez, followed by singing the National Anthem. As dinner was being served, our MC Mr. Victor Makris, honored us by playing two songs for the audience with his guitar.

Jordyn Mayo also impressed the audience with her solo dance called fireworks- Great job Jordyn!

As the evening wore on, Wang’s Martial Arts students and family members staged a Chinese folk song.

The MC for the evening, Mr. Victor Makris, warmly welcomed everyone to the festivities and honored the present black belts (Rafael Gonzalez, Allen DeWoody, Daniel Thibodeaux, David Barnes, Ed Green, Russell Haws, Susan Fischman, Darren Bush, Ruby Abbott, Polly Ferguson, Margaret Swavely, Chantel Barnes, Cleotis Washington, Jessie Diaz, Sue Diaz, Chris Duffy, Tania Myers, Jeannett Adams, Charles Moore, Deztanie Hellsten, Elmer Whitehead, Erin McCormic, John Prewett.) with a Glass Purple Lotus Flower.

Subsequently, a tribute and celebration of the life and achievements of Grand Master Victor Cheng. In memory of Ms. Nancy Green, Mr. Robert Barnes.

Following, Victor Cheng Scholarship (provides by Mrs. Jenny Cheng) was awarded to a U of H Law Student Jessica Lafferty for $1000.

Wang’s Martial Arts Scholarship was designated to a U of H Law Student, Alexander Akabar for $1,000 and a Lonestar College Student, Madeline Vides $200.

There was also a Chinese Fashion show, WMA students, family, and friends showed off lovely silk like garments and their talent.

The entertainment program started with fabulous Chinese Lion Dance. With four lions and music team by Shaolin Kung Fu Academy. There were many smiles and joyful children.

Next, the awards for tournament and report card points were handed out with first place being a seven-foot trophy! Students are encouraged to turn in their report cards, for a chance to win a seven-foot trophy at the Chinese New Year Banquet.
Don't forget those tournament points! After each tournament, students should turn in their points for a chance to also win a seven-foot trophy at the Chinese New Year Event.

Throughout the year, WMA students exercised their requirements every class period so they could manifest that day what they’ve learned. From start to finish all of the students did an outstanding job demonstrating their talent. During this period we got to experience a magical shoe fly across the salon and land on lucky table number five. The night was full of surprises.

There were numerous smiles and flashes from the cameras. The students were able to participate in a kicking contest, which consisted of 20 or more kicks within 10 seconds. The winners for the contest are as followed,

9-14 yrs old
1st Place - Joseph Alonso
2nd Place - Juan Ceja

Congratulations to those students who worked hard to win the kicking contest.

Door prizes were also drawn at the banquet, the first place winners for Table Leader, and Door prize drawing are as followed,

Tai Chi: Balance in Motion

This ancient alternative medicine may offer many health benefits, including improved coordination and more restful sleep. By Eric Metcalf, MPH  Medically Reviewed by Cynthia Haines, MD

When you think of martial arts, images of experts breaking boards or perhaps Chuck Norris teaching bad guys a lesson may come to mind.

But an alternative medicine practice called tai chi — which has roots in a centuries-old Chinese martial art — is experiencing a new wave of popularity. Instead of promoting the practice as a type of self-defense, Eastern practitioners promote tai chi as a way of bringing balance to your body, and Western medical researchers are busy exploring how this form of alternative medicine may help prevent and treat illnesses and injuries.

What Is Tai Chi?
According to legend, Chinese monks began practicing tai chi both to increase their ability to hold meditative poses and protect their monasteries from invaders. While performing tai chi, the participant smoothly proceeds through a flow of movements that are said to mimic the motions of animals such as the tiger and crane.

From the Chinese medicine standpoint, a vital energy called "qi" should constantly be circulating through your body. However, it can become blocked and stagnant, which disrupts your health — practicing tai chi is said to improve the flow of the qi energy.

Principles that are emphasized in the practice of this alternative medicine include:

- Balance. You maintain good body alignment while moving from foot to foot.

- Relaxation. You concentrate on your movement while keeping your mind calm and clear.

- Coordination. You learn to move your body through complex motions while maintaining good posture.
This form of alternative medicine is growing in popularity. According to the National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM), a recent survey revealed that an estimated 2.3 million adults had practiced tai chi in the previous year.

How Tai Chi Could Improve Your Health

In recent years, researchers have explored the possible effects of tai chi on a number of conditions and found that this alternative medicine may be beneficial for these problems:

- Falls. Preventing falls in the elderly community is a major focus of interest in tai chi. In one recent study, researchers reviewed studies on how to prevent falls among older people and found that tai chi was effective in reducing the rate of falls for this age group.

- Sleep disorders. A study in older people found that practicing tai chi for six months compared with low-impact exercise was associated with better sleep and less daytime sleepiness.

- Stroke. A recent study explored why tai chi might be a helpful alternative medicine for people who have had strokes. The practice is associated with improved balance, lower blood pressure, and elevated mood — all of which were beneficial for people who have survived strokes.

- Knee pain. In another study, one group of older people with osteoarthritis of the knee performed tai chi regularly for 12 weeks, while another group with the same condition did not. Those participating in this alternative medicine reported decreased pain and improvements in physical function and stiffness.

NCCAM recommends that you discuss tai chi with your doctor before participating if you have a medical condition or you haven't exercised in a while. In addition, you might experience muscle soreness when you start or if you perform movements too vigorously.

Because the movements are slow and controlled — focusing on simple poise instead of strength — tai chi makes a helpful meditative activity for any age group.

CATEGORY 1 -OLYMPIC TRAINING: is available to Middle School and High School students.

(Waiver requests considered under this category must be approved by the local Board and submitted to the Texas Education Agency for final approval.)

- Private or commercially sponsored physical activity programs that lead to Olympic-level participation and/or competition. These programs typically involve a minimum of 15 hours per week of highly intense, professionally supervised training. The training facility, instructors, and the activities involved in the program must be certified by the Superintendent or his/her designee to be of exceptional quality.
- Students qualifying and participating at this level may be dismissed from school one period per day for such participation. Students dismissed must not be permitted to miss any academic class to fill out a regular day in lieu of leaving campus for OCPE.
- The OCPE students should leave the campus one period prior to the end of the day or not check in to school until the second period of the day. There will be no supervised areas for these students to stay on campus for the unassigned class period and will result in immediate dismissal of the OCPE Program. Students who discontinue OCPE Category 1 during a semester will be enrolled in a regular physical education class for the remainder of the semester to complete the credit in physical education for that semester.
- It is anticipated that only a very limited number of students will qualify for this exceptional level of participation.
- The credits being earned for graduation requirements are to be taken during the students’ high school enrollment period.
- Students participating at this level may receive a maximum of one-half credit per semester. A total of one credit may be earned toward state high school graduation requirements or four semesters for middle school PE requirements.

CATEGORY 2: is available to Middle School and High School students.

(Waivers in Category 2 must be approved by the local Board but do not require submission of approval of the Texas Education Agency.)

- Private or commercially sponsored physical activity programs as certified by the Superintendent or his/her designee to be of high quality, well supervised by appropriately trained instructors, and consisting of a minimum of five hours per school week.
- Students participating at this level may receive a maximum on one-half credit per semester. A total of one credit may be earned toward state high school graduation requirements or four semesters for middle school PE requirements.
- Students certified to participate at this level may not be dismissed from any part of the regular school day.
- The credits being earned for graduation requirements are to be taken during the students’ high school enrollment period.

Student Name (please print) ____________________________________________

Current Campus __________________________ Current Grade ______________

I request permission from the Humble Independent School District for my child to receive physical education credit for active participation in the OCPE program.

I understand that the commercial facility named herein will satisfy the Texas Education Agency requirement for physical education instruction.

My child’s middle school requirements may be satisfied through participation in an approved off-campus program. The grade earned by the middle school student will be pass/fail. High school credit will be earned with a numeric grade.

I have been informed that if, for any reason, my child does not complete the entire semester/trimester, he/she will not receive any partial credit. Credit may only be earned through one vendor.

Furthermore, I acknowledge that the Humble Independent School District will not provide transportation to or from the establishment, does not endorse any commercial training program, and the approval of this application does not constitute any assurance as to the qualifications of the instructors or to the quality and/or safety of the equipment and facilities.

The undersigned is the parent or legal guardian of the named student. He/she is a student in the Humble Independent School District and I do hereby consent to said student participation in the commercial training program. I further agree to hold the Humble Independent School District, its Board of Trustees, administration, and/or faculty harmless from all liability for any injuries which said student may receive while participation in this program or while traveling to and from such program.

I also understand that if my child is approved for Category I They must leave the campus one period prior to the end of the day or not check in to school until the second period of the day. There will be no supervised areas for these students to stay on campus for the unassigned class period thus resulting in immediate dismissal of the OCPE Program. My child will also be responsible for completing the annual fitness assessment that may require him/her to attend before, during, or after school testing sessions.

I hereby acknowledge my understanding of this document with my signature below.

TAI – CHI – CHUAN - Testimony

Since earning (2nd) Black Belt in Tai – Chi – Chuan on 27 February 2016 from Master Wang – Wang’s Martial Arts, I decided I wanted to reach out and give back to the community by teaching Tai – Chi classes at Retirement Centers in Kingwood, Texas. Currently I am teaching four (4) times a month or once per week at Watercrest Retirement Center and eight (8) times per month or twice per week at Brookdale Retirement Center. Both facilities are in Kingwood, Texas.

It is personally gratifying to me to see other people’s personal health and well being changed for the better as a result of practicing Tai – Chi.

Elderberry Fights Flu Symptoms

By Dr. Mehmet Oz and Dr. Mike Roizen, MDs

Pliny the Elder was a first century Roman author and naturalist. One of his most famous sayings is: "Truth comes out in wine."
Did he know about elderberry wine? Being a naturalist (and Roman), there's a good chance he did. After all, the health benefits of elderberry syrup for treating the symptoms of the flu have been anecdotally cited since before his time.

But it's only in the last 20 years that the medicinal properties of the elderberry have been scientifically documented.

• A small study published in 1998 showed that 93 percent of flu patients given elderberry syrup (Sambucol) were completely symptom-free within two days, while those taking a placebo recovered in about six days.

• Another controlled study from 1999-2000 in Norway reported that flu patients taking three teaspoons of elderberry syrup four times a day saw their symptoms improve four days earlier than others who took a placebo.

• And a randomized, double-blind trial in 2009 found that 48 hours after flu sufferers took elderberry extract, 28 percent of them were devoid of all flu symptoms and 60 percent showed some symptom relief. Not a single patient in the placebo control group showed any relief.

Elderberries are more bitter than blackberries or raspberries, which is why they're distilled into wines or baked in pies in combination with other berries. But the concentrated syrup is what you want if you have flu symptoms. As the American Nutrition Association states, "Elderberry extract seems to offer an efficient, safe and cost-effective treatment for influenza."
Raw fruit and vegetables provide better mental health outcomes

Posted on May 7, 2018 in Featured News, Health

The study surveyed more than 400 young adults — an age group with typically the lowest fruit and vegetable consumption and at high risk for mental health disorders. Image: Shutterstock

New study identifies the top 10 raw foods related to better mental health: carrots, bananas, apples, dark leafy greens such as spinach, grapefruit, lettuce, citrus fruits, fresh berries, cucumber, and kiwifruit.

— By University of Otago
Seeking the feel good factor? Go natural.

That is the simple message from University of Otago researchers who have discovered raw fruit and vegetables may be better for your mental health than cooked, canned and processed fruit and vegetables. Dr. Tamlin Conner, Psychology Senior Lecturer and lead author, says public health campaigns have historically focused on aspects of quantity for the consumption of fruit and vegetables (such as 5+ a day). However, the study, published in Frontiers in Psychology, found that for mental health in particular, it may also be important to consider the way in which produce was prepared and consumed.

“Our research has highlighted that the consumption of fruit and vegetables in their 'unmodified' state is more strongly associated with better mental health compared to cooked/canned/processed fruit and vegetables,” she says.

Dr. Conner believes this could be because the cooking and processing of fruit and vegetables has the potential to diminish nutrient levels.

“This likely limits the delivery of nutrients that are essential for optimal emotional functioning.”

Related: Organic food provides significant environmental benefits to plant-rich diets

For the study, more than 400 young adults from New Zealand and the United States aged 18 to 25 were surveyed. This age group was chosen as young adults typically have the lowest fruit and vegetable consumption of all age groups and are at high risk for mental health disorders.
The group’s typical consumption of raw versus cooked and processed fruits and vegetables were assessed, alongside their negative and positive mental health, and lifestyle and demographic variables that could affect the association between fruit and vegetable intake and mental health (such as exercise, sleep, unhealthy diet, chronic health conditions, socioeconomic status, ethnicity, and gender).

“Controlling for the covariates, raw fruit and vegetable consumption predicted lower levels of mental illness symptomology, such as depression, and improved levels of psychological wellbeing including positive mood, life satisfaction and flourishing. These mental health benefits were significantly reduced for cooked, canned, and processed fruits and vegetables.

“This research is increasingly vital as lifestyle approaches such as dietary change may provide an accessible, safe, and adjuvant approach to improving mental health,” Dr. Conner says.

If everyone became vegetarian by 2050, food-related emissions would drop by 60%.

Worldwide vegetarianism by 2050 would lead to a global mortality reduction of up to 10%.

Some research has linked vegan diets with lower blood pressure and cholesterol, and lower rates of heart disease, type 2 diabetes and some types of cancer.

You can eat a totally plant-based diet that supports excellent health, whilst helping animals and protecting the planet.

One of the most effective things an individual can do to lower their carbon footprint is to avoid all animal products. This goes way beyond the problem of cow flatulence!

Vegans tend to have better vision and less macular degeneration – all that extra vitamin C and consequent collagen leads to much better skin.

A plant-based diet is better for the planet as it requires much less energy and farmland to feed a vegan.

Vegans have been found to enjoy longer and healthier lives when compared to meat-eaters.

Love us, not eat us!

All lives are precious.

What are the benefits of a clean diet?

We live in a fast-paced environment, which spoiled us when it comes to eating. We are always on the go and society has made it a norm to eat on the go. About half of your day is spent in your vehicle, and well, you also get hungry. It is now so easy to order food without having to get off your car and just eat it on the go. Have you stopped and asked yourself what really goes into all of these foods? Like they say, “you are what you eat”. Sure we make healthier choices when we grocery shopping, but are they really a healthy choice?

It is so easy to fall off the wagon and start “next Monday” with the clean eating, is it worth the risk of waiting? Why not start now? Nowadays, we have so many options to transition into a healthy clean diet. Organic fruits, vegetables, and pastas are now a choice. No one tells us the risks of eating veggies and fruits that are exposed to pesticides, the effects it can have in your organs nor the permanent damage something so minimal can do. They might be a little more expensive when purchasing but in the long run it will be cheaper for your health. Veggie beef, veggie poultry and veggie fish are also part of this trend. Farm animals are also fattened and exposed to chemicals while alive and dead. In order to maintain their shelf life, they must be put through a number of chemicals to preserve its shape, color, and texture. One cannot quit a habit from one day to another, therefore we must slowly transition our minds and body into a healthier and cleaner lifestyle.

What are the benefits of a Clean Healthy Eating?

- Reduces the risk of heart disease
- Helps you lose weight
- Compassion for animals
- Helps the poor
- Prevents (in some cases reverses) heart disease
- Helps with weight loss
- Expands life expectancy
- Less animals are harmed every day.
STUDENTS WITH ADHD CAN BENEFIT GREATLY FROM THE MARTIAL ARTS.

If your child has ADHD, you know how challenging it is for them to succeed in school, in sports, and in many of the activities that come naturally to many of their peers. At the same time, you know how they need activity and a place to channel their energy more than most kids. The good news is, Martial Arts is often the perfect fit for their learning style, providing the individual attention they need and providing a place to channel their extra energy in a positive way.

If your child has been diagnosed with ADHD, you probably see any or all of the following challenges:

1 Following directions. This has become an issue for all children in today’s media-saturated society, especially since most kids live 24/7 with mobile devices. For children with ADHD, the problem is far worse. They often miss multi-step directions, and even if they catch them, they lose focus and attention while trying to carry them out.

2 Impulsivity. Your child may sometimes act without thinking. That, combined with exceptionally high energy, creates challenges in the classroom, in the home, and everywhere in life.

3 Inattention. This one seems obvious, but in moments when you’re trying to teach a child with ADHD, or help them learn to do things around the house or even teach them basic safety, it becomes apparent just how inattentive this disorder makes them.

4 Low frustration tolerance. Life is tough for a student with ADHD, and it becomes worse because they get lots of “you failed” messages in life. Children are not naturally patient, but there is an even lower threshold for kids with ADHD. This makes for an angst-ridden childhood experience.

The problem is, of course, that ADHD makes it even more challenging for the child to cope with these issues. It is just as challenging for the adults who care for them, whether it be parents, teachers, or relatives. Children with ADHD experience a greater degree of conflict in the home and at school. That leads to a growing cycle of frustration, depression, diminished self-esteem, and a lack of peace at home and in school. ADHD is brutal for everyone involved.

Doctors and Psychologists are still learning about this disorder, even today. As of this writing, there is no known “cure,” but, there are many ways in which the martial arts can and will help your child be more successful.

1 Social development: Students learn values such as Self Discipline, Self Control, Respect, Honesty, and Patience in the martial arts. It is woven into any substantial martial arts experience. Kids learn that they can control their actions and behavior. It doesn’t happen overnight, but as they study the martial arts, they learn personal accountability and responsibility.

2 Emotional development: Bit by bit, martial arts students discover strategies to control themselves, and not let their ADHD control them. They learn, through genuine accomplishment, that they are capable people who can do great things. When a child earns a new belt rank or wins an award at a competition, they re-discover how good a “win” feels. Particularly for kids with ADHD who may not have scored a “win” in a while, these genuine, real-world accomplishments help them discover that they can and will be successful in life if they work hard enough at it.

3 Physical development: Probably the greatest benefit to children with ADHD, the martial arts provides a highly focused outlet that is more than enough to handle their nearly limitless energy. More importantly, success in the martial arts requires focusing that energy in positive ways. Students learn to use their whole body in every block and strike. They learn when to turn it “on” and “off.” For a child whose internal “engine” is perpetually in high gear, this can be a game changer.
Martial arts vs. team sports
Martial arts has a distinct advantage over team sports for kids with ADHD. In the dojo, each student is on his or her journey toward black belt. The training is highly physical, and exhausting in the most positive way. Kung Fu training involves both individualized feedback and high-repetition, both of which are essential for someone trying to learn despite this disorder.

In a team sports setting, the fast pace of play requires a focus on multiple stimuli. Players have to focus on position, on the ball, on the goal, on the rest of their team, and on the movements of the opposition. For a child with ADHD, this is a Herculean task, leading to frustration or embarrassment. These high-energy kids often bring tremendous speed and energy to the game but are prone to high-profile errors during play because they just can’t track the ball or know what to do next.

On the field or the court, kids with ADHD sometimes become “ball hogs,” hanging onto the ball too long and trying to do everything by themselves. It appears as selfishness, but it’s not. For a child with ADHD, they often don’t pass the ball because they don’t know where to send it. They, quite literally, cannot see the big picture. In games like baseball or softball, they’re often the child who is fast enough to steal a base but is thrown out on a baserunning error because they couldn’t track the flow of the game. For children who already has a tough time handling frustration, this can make team sports a negative experience.

Not so in the Martial Arts, where every child learns a small, discrete set of skills at one time, and practices those skills until they are mastered. They learn to focus and control their entire body. They learn to react to input successfully. They learn to spar in a safe environment and discover how to focus their body and mind completely in the moment. This is a life-changing experience for a child with ADHD. As they experience success in the dojo, they translate these lessons to other areas of life.

Small group and individual attention
This is probably the best reason to enroll a child with ADHD in the martial arts as soon as you can. Students receive a combination of small group, semi-private instruction, and group classes designed for their particular developmental level. This is the absolute best learning environment for students in general, but particularly for a child with ADHD. He or she is seen and known every single class. It is “preferential seating” of the highest order because each student receives positive and constructive feedback at consistent, short intervals. The class is fast-paced, highly physical, singularly focused, and changes at regular intervals. Each group class is designed to meet the developmental needs of that particular age level. This eliminates much of the frustration and makes learning fun.

Learning can be fun again
What a relief it will be when your child discovers that learning can be FUN once again. When school is tough, when there is drama at home, when there is conflict with peers, there always seems to be negative energy in the air. You’ll watch your child laugh, smile, and feel good about himself or herself as she or he pours all that energy into something positive. They will engage in learning games, run high-energy drills, and push themselves to new limits. One day, take a picture of your child walking out of class and save it. When life brings its challenges, you’ll discover that the dojo has become a place where your child can focus his or her energy and find the natural joy that comes with being a kid.

Not a cure, but a life changer
There are no snap “cures” for ADHD, but the Martial Arts can change your child’s life for the better. Dramatically. Any parent of a child with ADHD will tell you that life with this disorder is a draining combination of love mixed with discipline, patience seasoned with accountability, and an absolute determination that your child will grow into a successful, happy adult. The martial arts can help you both rediscover and celebrate your child’s many gifts. Your child will become himself or herself once again, as you enjoy taking the journey together.

From Nature’s Medicine Chest

Apples
One apple has the immune-boosting antioxidant equivalent of 1,500 mg of vitamin C. Plus, apples are loaded with protective flavonoids, which may prevent yeast, disease, and cancer.

Strawberries, Raspberries & Blueberries
Nature’s answer to a vitamin pill. Berries help keep you healthy with loads of vitamin C, a cell-protecting antioxidant and immune-booster.

Papayas
A cold fighting super hero, papayas are packed with 25% of the RDA for vitamin C. Plus, the combination of beta-carotene with vitamin C and E in papayas reduces inflammation throughout the body and can lessen the effects of asthma.

Mangoes
Originally from India, mangoes have been an immune system booster for more than four thousand years. One small mango provides a quarter of your recommended daily allowance for vitamin C, plus vitamin A, E, K and fiber.

Oranges, Clementines & Lemons
A delicious way to increase vitamin C. Make fresh squeezed orange juice and Clementine soda to sip and add lemons to tea.

Grapefruit
Not only is grapefruit loaded with vitamin C, it also contains natural compounds called limonoids, which can lower cholesterol. The red varieties are a prime source of the cancer-fighting substance limonoids.

Cranberries
One serving of cranberries has five times the amount of vitamin C found in broccoli. Cranberries are a natural probiotic, enhancing the body’s good bacteria levels and preventing it from foodborne illnesses.

Fresh Ginger Root
Ginger contains gingerols, a natural plant compound that can help fight off infection.

Garlic
The compounds found in garlic have been shown to kill viruses—making us almost three times less likely to get sick. Plus, fresh garlic has more immune-boosting potential than cooked, so to increase the health benefit, add a clove of fresh minced garlic at the end of cooking.

The brighter the color, the bigger the flu fighting antioxidant boost. So load your plate with a rainbow of colors.

Sweet Red Peppers
Gran or red, bell pepper have been an immune-booster because they contain vitamin C in an orange. Vitamin C is an essential weapon in your flu-fighting tool box. It can—indeed does—decrease the duration and severity of symptoms like mucus and cough.

Sweet Potatoes
Sweet potatoes boost the immune system with generous amounts of beta carotene, beta carotene—the vitamin that gives sweet potatoes their orange pigment—converts to vitamin A in the body, which researchers have shown can help fight respiratory infections.

Broccoli, Spinach & Red Onions
Broccoli, spinach and red onion contain high levels of quercetin, a highly potent flu fighter. The food that feeds your body with quercetin! Red onions. Eat them raw and you’ll receive four times the amount found in other produce.
1 Orange (vitamin C)
